For Storm Sewer on East Side
Gets Favorable ActionPARTIES SEEKING THE MUSSELMAN
BUILDING FOR FACTORY PUR-POSES—OTHER BUSINESS

Council met in regular session last Tuesday night with all members present and Mayor Scranton presiding.

In the absence of Clerk Winter, who is still confined to his home on account of sickness, Councilman Carlin was chosen clerk pro tem.

After roll call, reading and approving of minutes Henry Mueller addressed council relative to leasing the old Musselman building to fit up as a factory to manufacture a typewriter cabinet which he has had patented and placed upon the market.

Councilman Rentschler then presented a communication from W. B. Jackson, formerly of the Pandora Over-all Co., relative to leasing the same building for operating a factory to manufacture overall jackets. He agreed to work about twenty girls. Mr. Mueller said at the start that he would not work more than about five men, but from the satisfaction he knew his cabinets were giving, he felt that he could employ from twenty-five to fifty men within a year's time. The mayor referred the matter of leasing the building to the building committee.

Decorator Frank L. Ellis addressed the council relative to repainting the interior of the city building. The matter was deferred, upon advice of the building committee, until the present unfinished work of remodeling the building had been paid for.

Henry Niehaus, South Mill street, asked that a square of the street between Logan and Washington streets be fixed up. The street committee reported that they had already investigated that portion of the street referred to, but could not repair it until the weather had settled.

J. J. Gast addressed council relative to storm sewer on east side of town and presented a petition signed by many east side property owners asking for the improvement of sewer beginning on North Buckeye street, thence south to Wayne, west to Cherry, south to Warren, west to Ash, south to center and emptying into the big three foot sewer at the intersection of Main and Center streets. Mr. Gast stated that the petitioners wanted a sewer sufficiently large to care for the water, and also said that they did not want the sewer started further north than the lots are laid out. The petition was accepted and Engineer Fishbaugh employed to draw plans, specifications, estimates and profiles on the proposed improvement acting in conjunction and on the advice of the sewer committee.

Deleardorfer, chairman, of sewer committee, asked for information as to where work could be started on extension of sanitary sewer system.

Solicitor Johnson advised as to the mode of procedure and council ordered that the engineer in charge make an estimate of the uncompleted portion of the sanitary sewer system as outlined by the former council, and submit his report at the next meeting so that the work could be advertised and sold for completion.

A resolution was passed ordering survey, plat, specifications, etc., of the proposed curb and guttering of East Fulton street from Main street to Cory avenue. The resolution also provided for the employment of Martin Lutz as engineer on the job.

Councilman Rentschler asked the mayor what was going to be done about enforcing the traffic ordinance. The matter was referred to the police committee. Council then adjourned.

J. V. Brandon, Celina R. D. 5, and Henry Pond, Lima, Ohio, were two new subscribers to join The Democrat's big list of readers, last Tuesday.

John Sipe and Bert Irelan, of Blackcreek township made The Democrat a pleasant call last Monday while in town attending a hearing of the Hook ditch before the Commissioners.

LESSON FROM REAL LIFE

[J. Murray Allison in New York newspaper.]

"Doc" Myers went to his grave in Cavalry cemetery on March 7, and made the best impromptu lecture that has taken place for some time. Twenty-five years ago he was married to Alice Foy. The wedding was a notable one, for each was a favorite among the wealthy. He was the son of Prof. J. M. Myers, head of the Department of Languages of the New York public schools. He had studied in this country and abroad. The bride's father gave her $50,000 for her marriage portion.

"Doc" just barely missed being buried in the Potter's Field, by his friends coming to the rescue. Over 20 times in the last five years the two had been arrested for vagrancy.

How did it all come about? Just plain, simple booze—only this and nothing else. Together they drank, together they loved drink and together they went into oblivion. That was all.

After their first fortune of over $100,000 was gone, they fell together, almost to the depths. Then a second fortune almost as large came to the woman. It went in three years. Then $60,000 more came to "Doc" which lasted a year. They had every chance, but booze had the best chance.

And there are those who laugh and those who shudder at the fate of poor "Doc" and his beautiful wife and yet go right along putting that in their mouths which would sooner or later steal away their manhood and their brains.

FIGHT

Of Local Telephone Companies
Will Go to Higher CourtJUDGE LAYTON DECIDES IN FAVOR
OF UNION CENTER CO., GROUND
OF INADEQUATE SERVICE

Common Pleas Judge Layton, of Washington, last Wednesday gave his decision in the case of the Celina & Mercer County Telephone company vs. the Union-Center Telephone company, which was submitted to him several weeks ago.

The court found in favor of the defendants and dismissed the petition of the plaintiffs, basing his opinion on the grounds that the plaintiffs had not given adequate service.

The court had the stenographer take his opinion down, but requested that it be not printed. He heard Attorney O. J. Myers, of the plaintiffs' counsel, for his behavior during the trial.

The plaintiffs' gave notice of their intention to appeal the case and the court fixed the appeal bond at $500.

The case has been watched with much interest ever since it was filed several years ago. It was first heard in Common Pleas court on motion and taken to the court of Appeals.

The original case was then submitted to Judge Layton, many witnesses being called by both plaintiffs and defendants. The suit originally grew out of the attempt of the local telephone company to raise the phone rent, after the State Utilities commission had ordered them to give free service on tolls both ways over their lines to neighboring towns of the county. A kick general was registered, even in this city, and many phones were taken out.

The Mendon people, however, were more wrathful. They claimed they were not getting proper service or value received even under the old rate, and immediately formed a mutual company. They built their plant, but the Celina company refused to handle their toll service, and instituted the suit to keep them from operating their plant. A large number of Union and Center township farmers and many Mendon residents took stock in forming the new company, and are very active in supporting their cause against the attack of the Celina company to oust them. Both sides are determined to carry the case to the Supreme court.
